Bad Freight Wreck on Connellsville Division This Morning.

FAST FREIGHT HITS COAL TRAIN

Trainmen Escape Injury and No. 97, Manifest Freight West, Missed Piling Into Wreckage by a Bare 36 Seconds—Telegraph Wires Down.

Crashing into extra east No. 2895 at 6.30 this morning, No. 97, a fast freight, derailed 16 cars and a caboose at Blue Lick, a short distance west of Salisbury Junction in a rear-end collision. No one was injured although several of the crew in the caboose had narrow escapes. Flying along at a high speed, No. 97, a fast freight westbound, entered the collision, it is said, by a bare 36 seconds. At the westbound freight had hit the wreckage, one of the worst freight wrecks in the history of the division might have occurred.

The cause of the wreck is not known. The extra freight was making fair time when No. 97 crashed into it. Wrecking trains were sent from both Connellsville and Rockwood. The Connellsville train arrived on the scene at 10 o'clock and the Rockwood train 60 minutes earlier. Engineer Gulek and Conductor Polling were on No. 97 and Engineer Hulse and Conductor Jordan of the extra freight. Engine 2775 on No. 97, was badly damaged in the collision. Both tracks were blocked by the wreckage, which was piled high. The damaged cars were "battleships," loaded with coal for the eastern markets. Somerset county steam coal was scattered over the level stretch at Blue Lick. At this point the running is good, and engineers endeavor to make the best time possible before striking the grade into Maryland.

The smashup carried down several telegraph poles and for a time the wires of the division were out of commission. These were patched up as quickly as possible in order not to interfere with the running of trains. Engineer Gulek was making good time along the level stretch at Blue Lick. At this point the running is good, and engineers endeavor to make the best time possible before striking the grade into Maryland.

POLITICS PERHAPS BACK OF COLUMBIAN INCIDENT

State Department Inclined to Think Democrats Seize Opportunity to Probe.

United Press Telegram.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Because Columbian Minister Ospina specifically declared in a letter to Secretary of State P. C. Knox that in his view the Secretary's visit to Columbia would be inopportune, was purely a personal one, the State Department today refused all comments on the diplomatic situation thus created. It was expected that Secretary Knox at Palm Beach would also express personal views in the answer to Ospina's letter.

Not speaking for publication, the State Department was inclined to doubt that Ospina acted officially for Columbia and placed a political interest in the matter. The opinion was expressed by high officials that the Ospina movement was made at the direction of the government with the view to gaining support of the House Democrats.

It was pointed out that Ospina's statement to Acting Secretary Wilson would probably be the basis of an investigation by the House Democrats and would be used as an entering wedge of a probe into the Columbian situation.

UNUSUAL SUIT IN SOMERSET COURTS

Right of Way Dispute Brings Up Complex Question for Judge Ruppel.

RAILROAD MUST PAY $1,157

Motions For New Trials Were Filed in Many Cases Saturday—Judge Read of Jefferson County Winds Up His Duties Among "Frosty Sons."

Special to The Courier.
SOMERSET, Feb. 19.—In civil court Saturday a jury rendered a verdict for the defendant in the case of Annie A. Zayers against Edward Arisman of Boswell, and a similar verdict resulted in the suit of Abraham L. Gilmore against the borough of Windber. These cases were tried before Judge Read, and were the last two tried by the Jefferson county jurist.

Judge Ruppel on Saturday heard the election proceedings of the Kenneth Coal Company against the Pennsylvania & Maryland Railway Company, to recover the ground now occupied by the defendant company's right of way, a half-mile in length, through the Kenneth company's property in Summit township. The case involved a question of law never before raised in the local courts. The property on which the right of way is located was originally owned by the Southern Coal Company, covered by a mortgage given to secure bondholders, for whom the Somerset Trust Company was trustee. The P. & M. purchased their right of way from the Southern concern. Subsequently the mortgage was foreclosed, and the property was purchased by the Kenneth Coal Company, composed of Pittsburg capitalists, who now want to oust the P. & M. on the strength of the mortgage. The trolley people claim that the petition for ejectment cannot be legally sustained, for the reason that they have the right of eminent domain, which precludes the ousting from them, and that the most the Kenneth company can recover is damages.

In the damage suit of H. W. Walker & Co., against the Quenaboning Branch railroad, a jury on Saturday rendered a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $1,157. A motion for a new trial has been filed by the railroad company.

Motions for new trials were also filed in the following cases on Saturday:

Frederick Fechtig et al. against Norman Lepley, trespass, from Southampton township; tried before Judge Read, verdict for defendant.

Madden & Madden of Altoona, versus C. H. Stahl of Somerset, assumpsit; verdict of $26 for defendant; tried before Judge Read.

John Govalick against George Devonick, assumpsit; from Windber; verdict of $420 for plaintiff; tried before Judge Read.

Rufus L. Walter et al. against ex-Sheriff Isiah Good of Somerset, assumpsit; verdict of $468 for plaintiff; tried before Judge Read.

ORGANIZED CHARITY TO GET DUNBAR CHILDREN TO SCHOOL

Principal Gynne Finds Many of Them Are Too Poor and Goes to Rescue.

Acting in conjunction with the teachers and charitable inclined citizens of Dunbar, a meeting was recently held by Principal Gynne to probe the question of non-attendance on the part of children. Investigation found many children out of school either because they had to work or were in actual need of food, fuel and clothing.

Soliciting the aid of the W. C. T. U. a committee took remedial measures. A canvass of town found many people glad to assist in charity. Wilson & Wisheart contributed a wagon for the collection and delivery of the goods and temporary headquarters were established at the W. C. T. U. rooms. Aides were appointed to find the deserving families. Fuel, clothing and other supplies were distributed.

With the aid, rendered these families an urgent request was made that the children again be sent to school. In many cases the appeal of the workers has been answered and the attendance at the Dunbar school has increased in the past few days.

Smithfield.

SMITHFIELD, Feb. 19.—The Women's Christian Temperance Union held a memorial service in the M. E. church, Saturday evening in memory of the death of Francis Willard. The services were interesting and impressive.

The funeral of Mrs. William Ellis Sunday was largely attended. There was 65 single and double rigs in the procession from the residence to the Baptist church where the funeral service was preached by Rev. Dr. Ryan. In our obituary of the family in a former issue we omitted the names of two children, namely, Mrs. Walter Graves and Mrs. L. C. Sutton of this place, making five daughters and three sons. This was the first death in the family.

James Monlath and wife of the Keyes farm in North Union township were the guests of relatives in the borough from Saturday until Sunday evening.

Mrs. C. O. Bosley from out on R. F. D. No. 8 was in the borough Sunday. John Curry spent Sunday with his family at Connettsville.

Quite a delegation from here took advantage of the special provided by the B. & O. and attended the evangelistic meeting at Uniontown. Returning the train arrived about 11 o'clock. A few more days such as Friday, Saturday and Sunday would start the sap to flowing from sugar maple. Some of our merchants have the product in the shape of cakes for sale now but this was not made this year.

E. Young of Pt. Marion, is here today collecting the January gas bills for the Star Gas Company.

A. C. Rigler and wife of a few weeks were attending the funeral of Mrs. Ellis Sunday.

John Wingrove of Ontario, who had an indictment hanging over him in one of our justices' courts here since the 15th of October, 1911, and who has been studying the officers stage, got the case compromised on Saturday and is now free to go and come to the borough again so long as he behaves himself. He was charged with assault and battery and carrying concealed weapons.

Jennie Crow, a teacher in Hadstone township, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Crow.

YOU KNOW HIM
There was a fellow in our town
Who thought was safe that kept him down
You'd always see him round about
But he was always down and out.

One day I hit upon the reason—
—I was in the hottest
Summer season—
He wanted work at Shedding snow.
Aint that like lots
of folks you know?

10. What State gets the most of the increase? New York, which, instead of 39 electors, will have 45. What State stands next in the increase of electors?
Pennsylvania, which, instead of 24 electors, will have 30. New Jersey gains 2, (from 12 to 14), and those three States, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, will gain more than any other group of States in the country.

In the Middle West, Indiana makes no gain. Ohio and Michigan get one additional elector each; Illinois gains two.
The 14 States of the South gain collectively seven electors. The booming and blooming Pacific Coast States gain seven, of which three are allotted to California. The great West, more the prairie land of adventure and opportunity, shows little gain. Missouri shows and "is shown" none. Nebraska, Kansas and Iowa are stationary, with no more electoral votes than they had four years ago. Actually the population of Iowa is less than it was 16
years ago, and Kansas and Nebraska,
notwithstanding the eloquent insurgents, Republican and Democratic,
have gained little.

Idaho, Montana, North Dakota, South
Dakota, Colorado and Minnesota each gain an elector. Wisconsin has the same electoral vote as it had four years ago—17. Wyoming has no gain. The increase of three electors in Oklahoma,
still booming, is offset by three electors
in solid New England, two in Massachusetts and one in Rhode Island.
No State loses any representation in the Electoral College of 1912, but with 48 additional electors, those States which have no increase are relatively going backward. Eastern influence is decidedly greater in many States than it was 16 years ago, notably Ohio, which has now so many lands of non-connection with New York and Cal formation of population of which has increased nearly 1,000,000 in ten years, largely through the inflow of newcomers from New York, Massachusetts and other Eastern States.

The States of the East will determine the Presidential election of 1912
under the new distribution of electors based upon the population as shown by the census returns of 1910.

Revolvers.

Journalist Dispatch.
Revolvers are weapons of defense, offense, torture or argument. Most of our revolvers are manufactured in Connecticut. They are made in all sizes, styles, shapes, mod-els and materials. A two dollar revolver and a few bullets, used judiciously will procure for anybody free lodgings for life, or better still, they might get a chance to test the strength of our fine, double-clip, varnish coated ropes. So I hope it is plain to all that a revolver can get more trouble for a person than an editor would get from his wife for publishing a joke about his mother-in-law. It is against the law to carry a revolver, but it is much better to have a revolver against the law than against your heart.

The revolver is the little magic wand of the hold-up men. By taking this beautiful little product of Connecticut and pointing it at a respectable citizen, this citizen will be willing to part with his jewelry, pocket book or even his dignity, to gratify the pointer's wishes. A revolver makes a delightful plaything
for a small child, and there are one who should always be left within reach of the children. We occasionally read of a practical joker looking down
the barrel of a revolver, pulling the trigger and then making an attempt to stop the lead with his eye. This is very seldom done as the eye is very weak and refuses to initiate a stone wall. This would be a great stunt for the vaudeville stage, and the fellow pulling off such, would make a fortune. As a warning to anyone who would like to try this, I say, "At first practice with a new shooter. Do not use a shot gun until later."

The price of a revolver varies according to the buyer's softness and the size of his roll. All policemen carry revolvers. This is to keep them from being kidnapped or mistaken for peaceable citizens. Some revolvers are so small you could lose them in a quart of corn, while others are so large they are sold in sections. Some of our old western bad men were very skillful with the shootin' irons, being able to cut thread, hit buttons, clip

heels or shoot a man at three hundred yards. Our present day western bad man can not hit a mud hen with a bullet at three yards. Some people say that revolvers shoot only cur-ridges, while I have known them to shoot men, animals and things with equal ease. This good, old planet is a revolver. So is a merry-go-round.

FORT PALMER.

By Isaac of Yukon.

Fort Palmer has not grown much in the past hundred years. It is as strong a fort today as it was when the noble
red man shot holes in the landscape and dug up swamps to make pick tea. The pink tea industry is being worked as vigorously at present
as when the red man worked it.

There are about as many Indians around Fort Palmer today as there were when the fort was strengthened from the inside. Many of the Indians are able to read and write and some of them have a reasonably fair education. Perhaps they could stand more but the times do not demand it.

On June 16, 1873, General Grover
Cleveland Palmer arrived on the scene and started off the foundation. It was a beautiful June morning. The mocking birds were singing in the palm trees and the monkeys were tapping the coconuts to see if they were ripe. The Italian ditch diggers were feeling fine and the Greek and Italian pitched their temporary lunch counter.

The reader must remember that the palm trees and mocking birds got it in the neck during the Big Lost before the war.

At noon of that memorable day,
General Palmer sat down to his meal
while the Marine band was playing "Slide, Slide, Keep on Sliding." After dinner he smoked a pipe and saw to it that there was a load of cannon. He gave the plans of the fort to the contractor and then fell to sleep under a fig tree.

When he woke up the fort was built and the concrete mixer wanted their pay. He told them they would have to help roll the cannon into the fort.
When this was done he made the following address:

"Boys, we are in a strange land.
There is a lot of strange things about this place. If I would pay you money, and if you started to go home, the strangers would kill you. Stay with me and take stock in the fort. Next spring we will water the stock. If there is any water left over we will start a summer resort. If we get license to run a summer resort, we'll turn it into a boarding house and there's a future before Ligier valley in the boarding house racket. Your certificates are ready."

After the compact was made, the garrison was given a dose of cannon and little early risers every week to keep it in good condition. The posts of the stockade were manned for the men did not know what day the grand jury would drop in to pass upon the condition.

Years rolled around, Gen. Palmer kept his eyes peeled for Indians. But not an Indian appeared. He waited ten years more. Finally he was told that the Indians are running a fort in opposition to his at Bolivar, that they had cut the Forbes Road into chunks
and were selling it at 40 cents per cent.
When Gen Palmer realized the truth
he swore out loud: "Well, since those fools have injured business, I'm going to take my cannon and go home."

That was the end of the fort.

YELLOW PERIL IS MENACE TO STEEL

Reduction of Tariff Threatens American Industry With Ruin.

CHINA ENTERING OUR MARKETS

Already Steel Made in the Orient Has Gained Foothold on Pacific and When Panama Canal is Completed Atlantic Coast Will be Invaded.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 18.—China will successfully dispute with the United States for the iron and steel supremacy of the world if the American manufacturer and workman are not adequately protected. The Pittsburgh workman and the workman in iron and steel mills everywhere else in the United States will face tremendous wage cuts and probably loss of employment if they are deprived of tariff protection in accordance with the Democratic program, for China will be able to invade and capture the American markets.

Chinese labor at 10 cents a day, 10 hours, working on raw materials the equal of any ore and coal to be had in this country, with cheap water transportation from the interior of China to any part of the United States coast when the Panama canal is finished, will enable the laying down of the Asiatic product anywhere in this country cheaper than Pittsburgh mills can make similar goods if the protection afforded by present import duties is withdrawn.

That a lowering of the tariff on iron and steel would be a serious menace to American manufacturers and workmen is well established; that the peril from China is real and already has begun to be felt on the Pacific coast is presented by W. H. Donner, president of the Union Improvement Company and formerly president of the Union Steel Company.

Mr. Donner, less than a year ago, during the course of his world's tour, visited at Hanyang, China, a modern steel plant in full operation and exporting steel rails and pig iron to Japan, and some of the latter product to the Pacific coast of the United States. Mr. Donner declared yesterday that if the steel industry in China is properly developed the Chinese steel manufacturers will be enabled to deliver finished products to the eastern coast of the United States upon the completion of the Panama canal.

"If we had no tariff," he said, "there would be a wonderful opportunity for developing the steel industry in China, for United States consumption, because we could not compete with them. Lower the tariff bars and you'll hear from China," he declared emphatically.

Mr. Donner said that China has everything in her favor where the iron and steel industry is concerned.

"They have enormous deposits of iron ore," he said, "very much higher in iron than the ore we now use, and running from 62 to 65 per cent in ore. This ore is almost free from sulfur and is low in phosphorus. They have an abundance of excellent coking coal, which can be mined at very low cost, because they have the cheapest labor in the world. All we have to do is to visit China this may appear as an exaggeration, but it is a fact. I believe it is possible to produce pig iron and finished steel more cheaply in China than in any other country in the world."

Mr. Donner declared that laborers in Hanyang, which is just across the river from Tientsin, near the steel works, receive 10 cents, coal standard, for a 12-hour day; skilled laborers, such as bricklayers, carpenters and machinists, receive 20 cents gold for the same 12-hour period of labor. They feed and clothe themselves and save a little.

The Chinese coal miner is paid 7 cents for a day of 12 hours; in addition he receives the food for his family. This, he said, is the only way in which the steel industry in China is sold at 25 cents a ton.

The coal is transported from the mine to the river or railroad by coolies, the lowest class of Chinese labor. The coolies in paid 1 cent for carrying on his back a 400-pound load of coal in some instances a distance of more than a mile from the mine to the export station. These coolies work only seven hours a day.

The steel mill located by Mr. Donner at Hanyang is ideally suited for export business. From the mill to the Yangtze river there is a rail haul of 40 miles; and from there, the product is transported by vessel. Hanyang is accessible to ocean-going vessels, and there they have abundant and concrete docks of the most modern type. From Hanyang to Shanghai is a distance of little more than 800 miles.

The Hanyang Iron and Steel Works employs more than 5,000 workmen in its plant and several thousand others in its ore and coal industry. The company is now filling a pig iron contract of from 35,000 to 72,000 tons annually for 15 years, with a steel plant building on Puget sound.

ONCE GREAT SWAMP

Geological Survey Issues Bulletin on Minerals of Foxburg District.
In a report recently issued by the United States Geological Survey, as Bulletin 646, by Eugene W. Shaw and Malcolm J. Dunn, which discusses the geology and the coal, oil, and gas resources of the Foxburg quadrangle in Western Pennsylvania, many interesting facts are brought out regarding the appearance of this region millions of years before the advent of man.

In this report the geologists describe not only the rocks that are exposed at the surface but also those that have been placed at great depths by wells drilled for oil and gas. They explain how each kind of rock was formed and show that the rocks themselves contain an indisputable history of the processes concerned in their formation. The facts thus revealed show that at different periods in the earth's history land seas covered great areas of what is now the United States. One of these seas extended entirely over what is now the Appalachian Plateau region, from New York to Alabama. At certain periods the sea became partly or wholly filled with sediments, gradually sand and mud, which were washed in by streams and waves from the surrounding land, and the region slowly became covered by great marshy swamps and lagoons. Great plants thrived and died, their remains gradually accumulating in such quantities as later to form coal beds of wide extent.

In the 257 square miles covered by the Foxburg report there are an less than 11 distinct coal beds lying one above another and separated by a greater or less thickness of other rocks. The area occupied by these coal beds aggregates about 1,035.5 square miles, of which 307.3 square miles contain beds less than 1 foot in thickness, 310.5 miles contain beds between 1 and 2 feet thick, and 417.7 miles contain beds of minable thickness. Of the coal of minable thickness it is shown that only 4.82 square miles have been mined, through the total output from the ten active shipping mines in this area was over 400,000 tons in 1908.

The report reviews briefly the history of oil and gas operations in the Foxburg quadrangle, which dates back to the days immediately following the Civil War. As early as 1875 more than 1,600 wells had been drilled in the great Petroleum-Elk City field alone, which then had a daily production of over 20,000 barrels. The Easton-Turkey Run, Black Hill, Easton-Crossfield, Triangle, and Hensberry oil and gas fields also lie wholly or in part within the Foxburg quadrangle and are discussed in this report. Detailed topographic maps, on which locations of pools and of most "oil and gas" wells are carefully plotted, are contained in the bulletin.

A copy of the report may be obtained by addressing the Director of the United States Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

TELLS YOU HOW TO CURE A COLD

Surely Breaks the Most Severe Cold and Cures Grippe in Just a Few Hours.

The most effective and harmless way to cure the Grippe or break up a severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach or limbs, is a dose of Fajen's Cold Compound every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken.

You will distinctly feel the cold breaking and all grippe symptoms going after the very first dose. It promptly relieves the most miserable headache, dizziness, head and nose stuffed up, sore throat, running of the nose, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic aching.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere that cures the cold, which will cure your cold or grippe in minutes and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Fajen's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

After three years' research we have conclusively demonstrated that quinine is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

NEW COAL COMPANY.
It Will Handle Output of Harlan, Kentucky, Field.

BARDOTVILLE, Ky., Feb. 18.—The Harlan Coal Company, with its headquarters in Louisville, is the newest corporation to be organized in this county. All the interested coal fields. Its capital stock is $25,000. Roy Wilhoit is President and D. B. Cornett and others of Harlan are interested. The company will handle the output of the Harlan coal field, thus giving the operators a medium through which to dispose of their coal.

The Harlan Coal Company, with a capital stock of $150,000, was also organized. All the interested parties live in Louisville except L. W. Farmer, of this city. The company has a lease on some 10,000 acres of coal on Clover Fork, above Harlan, and a spur line is now in course of construction to the property.

Coal Company Loses Suit.
The biggest death claim verdict in the history of this county, a suit where corporations have been victorious for years, was given to J. W. McQuinn, administrator of Joseph R. Seiman, against the Rayland Coal Company. It was for $6,000. Seiman was a guard for Rayland's Spauld and he was killed by a defective dynamite shotgun owned by the company as he placed it in a buggy.

Coal Company Sued.
The St. Clair Coal Company at St. Clair, near Wilkes-Barre, Pa., owned by Scranton capitalists, has been sold to Philadelphia bankers and New York city coal operators for $1,500,000.

Coal Options Secured.
E. W. Blaser of Butler has closed the options on the coal rights of the Mahan heirs living in Middleburg township, Butler county, Pa. The rights include 16 acres and the consideration of the transfer is $3,000.

Mayor Shank Returns to Indianapolis From New York With Some New Ideas for the Reduction of Cost of Living

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 18.—Mayor Shank and Mrs. Shank have returned from New York, where the mayor went to study market conditions and to tell the New Yorkers how he reduced the cost of living in this city. "I told the New Yorkers to a speech at Cooper Union," said Mayor Shank, "that what a city wants is a purchasing agent, one who is authorized when the cost of things gets too high to go out and purchase supplies for the people and sell them direct to the people, and at one profit and not three profits. New York wants more public markets, places where one can buy food cheaply, not at a price that brings a profit, but at a reasonable profit, which, instead of being divided, will be of benefit to the man who raises what he has to sell." During his speech Mr. Shank was interrupted by a New York man, who urged him to stay longer and run for mayor. Mr. Shank says that he would not think of living in New York under any circumstances; that the city is so big that there is no community of interest, no neighborliness and no spirit of friendliness. "In a city like New York it must be much easier to get into a too expensive style of living," she says. "And since bare necessities are so easily the adding of superfluous luxuries must strain a moderate income. And yet, with all the money and good times, how much misery and suffering the average family had in New York. Nobody knows anybody else. Now, I have no children, but those belonging to the people who live next door to me spend most of their time in our house. Could that happen in New York? They tell me that people there don't even know who lives in the next apartment on the same floor with them. It seems to me that neighborliness is one of the most delightful things in the world. Of course sometimes it degenerates into mean vulgar curiosity, but there are always ways of checking that. Real neighborliness is the good old spirit which bids the dwellers in the same town to rejoice with them that do rejoice and weep with them that weep. It's the sort of thing that in little country villages makes the trades of undertaker and caterer almost superfluous."

NERVOUS, DEBILITATED AND RUN-DOWN

Either the Rest Cure or Tonic Vita Will Build You Up Again.

If you are nervous, debilitated, and run-down in health, there are two things you can do to bring back your strength and vitality. You can go to a sanitarium and take the rest cure, or you can secure the great modern tonic "Tonic Vita" and let it build you up and furnish new nourishment for your shattered nerves.

If you know what wonderful results have been accomplished by "Tonic Vita" since physicians first introduced it in this country you would much rather take this tonic than go to any sanitarium on earth. Here is a statement from Mr. J. H. House, of 281 Twentieth Ave., Milwaukee, Wis., who has tried "Tonic Vita": "I was all run down, intensely nervous and suffered with the most violent headaches. I felt tired and dull all day, my body seemed benumbed at times, and I did not sleep well. My digestion was imperfect and I was continually constipated. As soon as I ate anything my stomach filled with gas and I was distressed for a half hour or more. My mind was dull and my memory very poor. I contracted a cold easily and suffered with severe coughs. Sometimes my throat felt as if a physician had advised me to take 'Tonic Vita.' I did it and am glad I did for the medicine was wonderful in my case. I feel as though I had a new lease on life. My ambition has returned as well as my strength and energy."

I now sleep well and get up in the morning feeling cheerful and ready for work.

My wife was also run down and nervous. She started taking the medicine when I began to help me. Her improvement has been fine and she is now in good health."

If you are run down and haven't enough strength it is your own fault. You feel miserable a day longer, when you can get such a preparation as "Tonic Vita."

WILD, WOOLY WEST NEVER HAD ANYTHING ON NEW YORK

Hold Ups in Gotham Worse Than South Dakota in Vigilance Committee Days.
NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Held up in New York are more frequent today than in South Dakota in the Vigilance Committee days.

This declaration, proclaimed in the blackest type by a big burglar insurance concern today brought home to New Yorkers the prevalence of the crime wave which swept the city during the past week, and the police could not deny the facts. With one holding reported from the heart of the downtown shopping district, when a Jeweler lost $10,000 in gems; a man throttled in the Bronx, and a carpenter beaten and robbed in Brooklyn, so serious was the situation considered that in the downtown financial district that the financial institutions took the strongest precautions to guard their property.

Bank runners and messengers for financial houses made frequent rounds, guarded by "strong arm" men, and up for the occasion and well armed despite the concealed weapon law.

CITY OF SAN DIEGO BARS UNEMPLOYED

Hundreds Lured From East to Western Cities Find Themselves Broke.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Feb. 18.—This city has barred the unemployed camp has been established outside San Diego to ward off the "hoyas" and to which men seeking work are conducted.

Most of the unemployed are from the East, brought here by land and railroad exultations. The men arrive without means, expecting to obtain work. There is no work and they are driven from one town to another. They were driven out of San Diego Saturday night and took refuge in the camp. The city furnishes coffee and bread, but the men are expected to make the camp only a temporary refuge.

Many are lured to California by false representation and are reduced to the condition of tramps when employment cannot be found. There are 200 Americans, many of them well educated and members of professions, now homeless in the San Diego camp.

Checking Accounts No. 6.

How a Checking Account Can Make You a Bond Owner

When you get a surplus of $100 or more in your checking account you are in a position to consult the bank about buying a good bond, bearing 4 1/2 to 6 per cent interest.

The bond will cost $100; you give your check to the bank for $100 and your note for $400, leaving the bond with the bank as collateral security for the note. The interest on the bond will pay the interest on the note from the start, and, with every payment you make on the principal, the interest will be reduced. When you get one bond paid you can borrow money on it from the bank to buy another.

This bank will be glad to assist you to become a bond owner. Come in and get full information.

Next Week we will tell you about the advantages of having a Checking Account in making collections.
